Portland's Signature Lunar New Year Celebration Returns for the Year of the Horse

The popular nighttime festival returns bigger and brighter with illuminated dragon dances, stunning lantern sculptures, and a zodiac animals light show

December 10, 2025 – PORTLAND, Ore Lan Su Chinese Garden is welcoming the Year of the Horse with the return of Portland's beloved Lantern Viewing Evenings, a luminous cultural festival that lights up the winter season. From February 18 through March 8, 2026, visitors will be immersed in glowing lantern sculptures, vibrant dragon dances, soothing live music, and a new projection-mapping light show celebrating the energy and renewal of the Lunar New Year.

According to Lan Su's Vice President of Culture & Community, Venus Sun, “2026 marks the Year of the Fire Horse, a zodiac sign symbolizing strength, freedom, vitality, and perseverance. In Chinese culture, the horse represents forward movement and uplifting momentum—galloping into the new year with optimism and bold spirit!” Inspired by these themes, Lan Su’s 2026 Lantern Viewing Evenings highlight energy, motion, and the vibrant renewal of spring.
